DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102 and 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-55 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Conhaim.
4. Conhaim teaches (independent claims 1, 18, 27 and 40) an on-line method and system for marketing services to a prospective or actual purchaser of industrial equipment, the method comprising: providing to the purchaser over a network information relating to an on-line marketplace for industrial equipment (p. 1/8, middle); accepting over a network and storing in a database registration information from the purchaser (p. 3/8, third para.); displaying over the network in conjunction with the on-line marketplace an identification of a plurality of services relating to the acquisition of industrial equipment (p. 2/8 bottom); accepting over the network input from the purchaser identifying at least one of the plurality of services as to which the purchaser wishes to receive information, and transmitting to the purchaser information relating to the at least one service (p. 2-3/8).
5. Conhaim does not explicitly teach (independent claims 30 and 46) generating a purchaser service request record. However, under the principles of inherency (MPEP § 2112.02), since the reference invention necessarily performs the method claimed, the method claimed is considered to be anticipated by the reference invention. As evidence tending to show inherency, it is noted that any vendor necessarily generates a purchaser service request record in order to properly service the prospective purchaser. Alternatively, because it is important to maintain good customer service records, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to add the generation of a purchaser service request record to the teachings of Conhaim.

6. Conhaim does not explicitly teach (independent claims 36, 42, 43 and 52) assigning a code to the registered purchaser. However, under the principles of inherency (MPEP § 2112.02), since the reference invention necessarily performs the method claimed, the method claimed is considered to be anticipated by the reference invention. As evidence tending to show inherency, it is noted that a user name and password would be assigned in order to allow tracking the purchaser's activity at the website. Either the user name or password read on a code assigned to the registered purchaser. Alternatively, because it is important to maintain good customer service records, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to add assigning a code to the registered purchaser to the teachings of Conhaim.
7. All the remaining claims are either taught, expressly or inherently, by Conhaim, or obvious over Conhaim.
